CLARKSVILLE, AUGUST 15, 1865.

Miss Lockyer's School will commence on Monday, the 4th of September next.

The friends of our associate, Mr. Grant, will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly improving from his late attack of fever, with a fair prospect of being on his legs again in a few days.

We publish to-day the advertisement of Mrs. Ringgold, the lady of the pastor of the Episcopal Church of this city, who proposes to open a school, at an early day. We refer to her card.

The St. Charles Saloon, two doors above the National Hotel, is one of the most popular places of resort for those who take something "for the stomach's sake." Charles Humphreys officiates and usually succeeds in giving entire satisfaction.

We are pleased to see the repairs going on upon our streets. A good deal of work is being done on Franklin street, a portion of which is being now installed, and an extensive culvert is in process of construction upon first cross street from Franklin to Commerce.

The advertisement of Frech & Co., which will be found in our columns to-day, will inform the public that they have on hand a very large assortment of desirable agricultural implements, together with a supply of seeds, &c. They are liberal dealers, keep the very best articles and sell low. Give them a call.

The College building, for the last few years occupied by the Military, is about to be given up to the Trustees. We learn that Rev. Dr. Wardlaw, aided by competent assistants, will open a classical and mathematical school in it. We congratulate the community on the fine opportunity for educating their boys. From Dr. Wardlaw's experience and well known scholarly acquirements, we are sure that an institution conducted by him will have no superior anywhere. We refer our readers to Dr. Wardlaw's card.

We have heard of frequent complaints of late that no one here was authorized to administer the amnesty oath, and that persons who desired to take it, and to whose protection it was necessary, were compelled to take an expensive trip to Louisville or Nashville, which few returned rebels could afford to have administered. We understand that our Provost Marshal, Capt. T. S. White, has received the necessary authority, and will be ready on Monday next, to administer it to all who desire to take it.

Bethel College, at Russellville, Ky., one of the oldest and most popular institutions of learning in the western country, commences its next session on the first Monday, in September, under the charge of that well known and popular teacher, Prof. J. W. Rust, long a resident and favorite in this place. We are informed that the success of this school last year was almost without a parallel in the history of Kentucky Colleges. Russellville is a pleasant and healthy place of residence, has the best of society, and is accessible by railroad. See the advertisement in another column.

Life is uncertain and death is sure; various instances illustrate how narrow is the line between loss and safety. A single hour or a passing whim, sometimes costs men their all. Prudence, wisdom, comprehensiveness, diligence, all say Insure—and you cannot do better than to insure with the Aetna. The man who omits to insure his property now, must, in the very nature of the case, be either negligent, ignorant, or reckless. Call upon O. H. Jones, agent for the Aetna, and procure a policy immediately.

Messrs. Sam. Stewart and Tom Finley, have purchased the Drug establishment, on the Square, recently owned by W. J. Cantner. They are clever gentlemen, attentive and polite to their customers, and one of them is a Druggist of long experience and good reputation. Their stock is large, fresh and well assorted, embracing everything in their line, and Physicians, and others, needing drugs or prescriptions, will do well to give them a call.

The excellence of the two hotels in this city is the subject of frequent remark, even by persons from cities making greater pretensions than we aspire to. Mr. Sam. Grant, in charge of the National Hotel, and Mr. Courtis, of Moore's Hotel, are first-rate caterers and spare no trouble or expense to render those who stop with them comfortable and satisfied. Their houses are really a credit to the city.

Mr. Hume is rejuvenating his store, at the corner of Franklin street and the Square, and is making improvements which promises to add greatly both to its convenience and appearance. New floors are being laid down, new shelving and counters put up, extensive sitting down city style arrangements prepared, and the second story elegantly fitted up and thrown open to the public, and for the display of such goods as Carpeting, &c. for which there is not sufficient space on the first floor. These preparations are being made in anticipation of the arrival, in a few days, of an unusually large stock of every description of Goods in the Dry Goods line. Mr. H. expects to re-open in about ten days.

A horse race and a shooting frolic came off in the upper part of the city, on Wednesday last, of which we gather the following particulars: A man who had lost a horse through the enterprise of some unknown person, near Hopkinsville, Ky., tracked the missing Quartermaster and the animal to this place, and recovered the horse, hitched on Franklin street. He was soon able to identify the man and gave him pursuit. While racing up Franklin street, the owner of the horse saw Col. Davis coming down and called to him to put a squad after the man. Col. Davis promptly replied that he could see no guard on the street, but that he would attend to that affair himself and wheeling his horse put after the thief. About this time the man turned, and resting his pistol on the body of a wagon, fired at the owner of the horse. The ball missed the person fired at, and after hitting the ground, struck Col. Davis in the side, but was too much spent to do any damage. The man then made good his escape.

A week ago last Friday morning, the body of a man by the name of Myers, who was at the time in the employ of W. T. Shookleford, of this place, was found near the back of the store, at Cumberland City, covered up with a lot of hides. He had received a blow over the left eye, with some weapon, which had entered the brain, and was on the chin which had severed it from the head. His pockets were turned wrong side out and his hat and boots were gone. A negro man who purchased a bottle of whiskey and a tin of tobacco, at a grocery in the vicinity, the evening before, and stated, at the time, that he was going to help Myers watch the hides that night, but was missing next morning, has been arrested on suspicion. He will be sent either to this city or to Fort Donelson for trial.

P. S.—Since writing the above, we learn that a magistrate started with the negro from Cumberland City to deliver him up to the authorities here for trial. He had only proceeded two or three miles, when two armed men, whose faces were blackened, came out of the woods into the road, and demanded the custody of the negro, stating that they would take care of him. The magistrate remonstrated, but was ordered to leave, which he did. He had gone only two or three hundred yards when he heard two reports of guns, and the negro has not been heard of since. The presumption is that he was summarily disposed of.

A BARBARE—Any one wishing to purchase a good second hand Barouche, can find a first rate one cheap for cash—by calling on Mr. Samuel Johnson. Try him and see for yourself.

A dispatch to the Associated Press announces the pardon of Hon. Cave Johnson by the President.

A Mrs. H. in Cooper county, was on the 17th ult., delivered of a child with four arms, four hands, four legs and four feet.

Some slandering baculet says it is much for when you get married, but it is more jany after a year or so.

A late New York dispatch says: The following engagement on the river Panama is given in the Journal, Durand: At 8 A. M. the Panamanian vessels were within reach of their enemy, and at once opened a furious fire. The Brazilian account the only one which has reached us, admits that the Paraguayans fought with the utmost bravery. The result for sometime was doubtful, until the Brazilian steamer Amazon, being converted into a ram, sank three steamers—the Paraguay, Salto, and Jaghey, and one floating battery, and compelling the other steamers, which were likewise considerably damaged, to retire. The battle lasted till 4 o'clock P. M. The Paraguayans who supported the line of their fleet by a land battery of 20 guns, were reported to have lost 1,500 men of their squadrons, and 500 of the land battery. The Brazilians estimate their loss at about 300 killed, wounded and missing. Nothing could exceed the ferocious valor of the Paraguayans. They all seemed determined to conquer or die.

President Johnson has permitted Henry C. Burnett, of Kentucky, to return to his home. His property has also been restored to him. Burnett was a member of the house of Representatives from the First District of Kentucky, in the thirty-seventh Congress, and he distinguished himself by his secession proclivities and in votes against every bill contemplating the rigorous prosecution of the war.

The democratic party needed less than 200,000 votes out of 4,446,071 to carry the popular vote for George B. McClellan last fall, with all the terrorism and force that was brought to bear. This party is now strongly united upon great national principles. The Republican party hardly agree on any point. It cannot keep together through another campaign. It is only for the democratic party to be patient and firm, and it will again control the affairs of the country. If the Union is to be saved, it can only be done upon democratic principles—pure and undiluted.—Evans Statesman.

The tobacco sales, at Trice's Landing, will commence, beginning on Saturday, 7th October.

LET those who have doubted the virtues of Bull's Cedron Bitters, if any such there be, read the following certificate from gentlemen well known in this community, and doubt no more.

Its general introduction into the army will save the lives of thousands of our soldiers.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 3, 1865.

DR. JOHN BULL'S COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS

The latest and most important discovery of the 19th Century.

No man's name is more intimately connected with the history of Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of

DR. JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky.

His inimitable preparation of SARSAPARILLA, has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug.

His COMPOUND OF WILD CHERRY has become a household word throughout the West and South.

His WORM LOZENGES, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as wide spread as the continent of America.

But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to be the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the Bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malarial, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to endorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that as a remedy and preventive from all diseases arising from exposure, either to changes of weather and climate, or to the miasmatic influence, it stands

WITHOUT A RIVAL, and justly deserves the reputation it has as long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.

IN DYSPESIA

And its attendant train of symptoms, it sets more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the range of Materia Medica, that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.

A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the 11th edition of the U. S. Dispensatory, on pages 1287 and 1288.

A series of experiments in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other approved tonics, the whole prepared in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which he is confident has no equal in the world.

He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine.

GIVE THE CEDRON BITTERS

One trial and you will never use any other.

It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases in which the Cedron Bitters are successful.

In all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Kidneys,

In all affections of the Brain, depending upon derangement of the Stomach and Bowels,

IN GOUT, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA, And in FEVER and AGUE,

It is destined to supersede all others. It not only cures these diseases but prevents them.

A wine glass full of the Bitters taken an hour before each meal, will obviate the effects of the most unhealthy climate, and screen the person taking it against diseases under the most trying exposure.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers generally.
